Re: ███████████████████

Dear ███████████

   As a result of the bankruptcy filing of your above named client(s), ███████ Bank has temporarily blocked your client(s) access to ███████ Online Banking. This action was necessary in order to prevent any misunderstanding related to account statements that may be viewable through this mechanism.

   If your clients wishes to continue using ███████ Online Banking, please have your clients execute the release below and return it to the following address:

███████████████

Or, fax to ███████ Bank at ███████████████.

   If you have any questions, please contact the Customer Bankruptcy Collections Department at ███████████████

Sincerely,
Customer Bankruptcy Department

   I, ████████████████████████, on this ____ day of _____ 20_____ acknowledge that our continued use of ███████ Online Banking will expose us to account statements or other account related information. We understand and agree that, notwithstanding ███████'s posting of such materials or any language contained on such materials, such materials and language are not provided for the purpose of requesting payment or collecting a debt. We understand and agree that any document or information we access through ███████ Online Banking is provided solely for informational purposes. In exchange for receiving access to Online Banking, we agree to forever waive any claim, demand, or damages, under the bankruptcy code or otherwise, related to the provision of and my access to this information.
